This and That

I have worked in several factories in my life. Each one is designed to produce items that the public or private sectors consume. It is important that each piece is within specifications for size and function. Each must fit the container in which it is shipped and, most importantly, each must fulfill its end use. In order to accomplish this there are equipment and manufacturing specifications designed to insure that the product is produced correctly time after time. All along the production path there are inspections that are performed. Trained people choose samples for examination to insure the product is being produced correctly. This reduces the likelihood that product will reach the consumer which doesn't meet the standards set for it.

The Christian can learn a lot by following the manufacturing example. We should examine ourselves periodically to insure we are meeting the expectations of God and Christ. The Apostle Paul put it this way, "Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?" 2 Corinthians 13:5. We should examine ourselves in the following ways:

- Have we done the things required to become a child of God?
– Hear, Believe, Repent, Confess, and be Baptized
- Are we meeting regularly with the church as stated in Hebrews 10:25? Do we encourage each other?
- Are we caring for the less fortunate such as the needy, sick, and burdened?
- Do we read our Bibles regularly and seek to do the things we find therein?
- Is prayer something we do on a regular basis each day? Is talking to God through Jesus important to you?
- Does our light shine so others may glorify our heavenly Father?

We can, and should, examine ourselves to insure we are in the narrow way. Think about it.
