The only freedom which deserves the name is that of pursuing our own good in our own way, so long as we do not attempt to deprive others of theirs, or impede their efforts to obtain it. Each is the proper guardian of his own health, whether bodily, or mental or spiritual. Mankind are greater gainers by suffering each other to live as seems good to themselves, than by compelling each to live as seems good to the rest.

John Stuart Mill, On Liberty, 1859

God Is Love by Cindy Harrison

Love's a light on the darkest night
That warms the cold, cold heart-
A lighthouse for the lonely soul
That makes the fears depart.

Love's a torch that lights the way
When everything seems lost-
A smile that fills an empty room
When life is tempest tossed.

Love's a star that leads the way
To lowly Bethlehem-
A light that shines in every heart
Of those who worship Him.

Love's a never-ending light
That shines from heaven above-
A light illumined in the heart,
Declaring God is love!

Think on These Things by: Pat Phelps

"The mind is its own place," says Milton, "and in itself can make heaven of hell or a hell of heaven." The man in jail thought himself there. He was mentally a thief, or a thug, or a murderer first.

The lawyer is made by thinking law. The artist is made by thinking art. The same is true of the musician the scientist, the physician, or the teacher. Of course, there are other things that help the process along, but no specialist is made without thinking his specialty. So the Christian is made by thinking in terms of Christ. "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus."

Whatsoever things are true-think on these things. Why?
Because that is the only way to be true!

Whatsoever things are honest-think on these things. Why?
Because this leads to honest actions!

Whatsoever things are just, or pure, lovely or of good report, think on these things. Why? By so thinking, they become a part of our character.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he," says the inspired writer. The things we are thinking today are determining what we will be tomorrow. An old adage admonished, "Sow a thought, reap an act; sow an act, reap a habit; sow a habit, reap a character; sow a character, reap a destiny."

It is evident that our thoughts are determining our immediate and our ultimate destiny. The pure, the upright, the noble, the courageous and the Christ-like are not that way by chance. They are like they are because they think as God would have them think.
