This and That

Spring is upon us and is reflected in the warmer temperatures, soft showers, and windy days. It is good to escape the harsh conditions of the past winter and embrace the possibilities of a new season. This time of the year reminds me of a resurrection of sorts. The grass, which has lain dormant for the past three to four months, suddenly begins to express itself in greener colors and longer blades. Frogs begin to embark upon a yearlong journey to create a progeny of successors. Their croak is delightful music to the ears of nature lovers both young and old. Trees are beginning to bud and bring forth a new crop of leaves to replace those discarded so long ago. Flowers escape their shell of protection to provide the eyes a bouquet of beauty unsurpassed by mortal hands. Small creature begin to make their way through God’s ecosystem to take their place among the living and active. It warms the heart and cheers the soul to think that the earth’s inhabitants may once again activate that part of themselves which creates.

As we grow older we realize a loss of those attributes that perpetuated youth and energized our bodies to youthful attainments. We try supplements that are designed to increase our body’s ability to replenish itself. Exercise is now a chore that one completes with the hope of increased stamina and endurance. Such is the lot of man! But be not in despair! The Apostle Paul speaks of a renewing of the inner man. “For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day.” 2 Corinthians 4:16. Though we may be losing our physical prowess, the mind is being renewed each day. Through exercising the mind in Bible Study, worship activities, daily Christian lifestyle, and contentment we reinvigorate ourselves in a way that surpasses that physical part. We also await a time when the graves shall burst asunder and our spiritual bodies emerge from the planting of so long ago to take its place among the resurrected. A reuniting of soul, spirit, and body to the praise of God eternally! Won’t it be a wonderful “springtime” in eternity? Are you prepared to take your place among God’s redeemed? Think about it.
